DISORDERS SPRING UP.

Because of Shah's Refusal to Summon Parliament.

London, Nov. 18.—The Persian Shah's refusal last evening to summon parliament to revise the constitution is already causing great disorders. It is believed to be certain that Russia will "step in to restore order" and then permanently occupy. The attitude of England and Germany is anxiously awaited.

A Problem of Long Division.

I've three thousand plunks a year, Three fine sons, a girl, a wife, All of them are very dear, Much more dear to me than life. Now the question doth arise How shall we divide that sum So that tears shall dim no eyes, And contentment rule our home.

Then the other son, he goes Off to college. I opine Fifteen hundred will dispose Of his bills at Columbine. Then my daughter studies art At the Binks academy, Seven hundred is the part That she yearly asks of me.

Thus we see that of the three Thousand dollars that I earn Nigh nine thousand seems to be The amount that others burn; So that, when it comes to mine, It is clear I get from it, By subtracting three from nine, A six thousand deficit.
